1. The following Russian vessels were undergoing repairs in the Neptun shipyards on 4 June 1952.

- a. Unidentified Russian vessel Shipyard No. B 5.

The main and auxiliary engines are at present being installed, as well as electrical power units and electrical cables. New winches are about to be installed and work to construct new bulwarks has now commenced. Repair work on the bulkheads is in progress. This vessel is to be completed by 1 April 1953.

- b. The Russian naval vessel T 17.

The overhaul of the main and auxiliary engines continues. A number of rivets on the bottom plates are being replaced. All the work is being carried out by Russian naval personnel.

- c. The Russian naval vessel T 713.

This vessel is about to receive one new propellor shaft. The propellers and bottom plates were damaged and are at present being repaired by Russian naval personnel.

- d. The Russian vessel KOOPERATSLA.

This vessel left the shipyards on 25 May 1952 for Wismar. Just prior to departure part of her engines and boilers were taken ashore, where they are to be repaired.
